

Hard Ice in the Chest

I

coolers are American
apple pie

II

put foods in “chronological” order

III

tea, dips, cokes

IV

picnic blankets, sleeping bags or clothing around the cooler to insulate it even more

V

casual adventurer

superior performer in southern Utah's temperatures

VI

big chunks of ice lasted 4 days in Joshua Tree

VII

shaped by strong winds, unpredictable torrents of rain, and climatic extremes

VIII

St Paul, MN; Renton, WA; Houston, TX, USA

in mountains and not very warm

IX

cold air travels down

thermozone

X

keep coolers out of sun

XI

hard to keep ice cold up to 5 days at 90° F

keep ice cold up to 6 days at 90° F

XII

two full inches of insulation, 2-inch deep drink holders, two-way handles

using two coolers is the best arrangement

XIII

17.75" x 36.50" x 17.50"; 17.6 pounds

64-oz, ½-quart, 2-quart, 8-oz

XIV

CFCs, HFCs, and HCFCs

rustproof

XV

just-melted ice

XVI

dark night skies

cold for days

XVII

keeps things cold for days on end

a bit bulky and difficult to maneuver in sand

the interior plastic fades/stains easily

also, miss wheels

XVIII

cloth saturated with vanilla extract, chlorine bleach, solution, baking soda

XIX

poor product performance and can cause serious personal injury, property damage or death

XX

for the next hurricane

back of my pickup truck

XXI

pre-chill coolers by placing a few ice cubes inside an hour or so before loading your cold beverages and food

XXII
overnight

XXIII
freezing nights

it occasionally snows at higher elevations

XXIV
'N/A'

XXV
a lot of food inside and a big family

extra seat

XXVI
transients and summer nesting

XXVII
hard ice in the chest

day three (the day of the party)

XXVIII
a victim of gravity